Democrats Make Gains In Congress But G. O. P. Claims a Safe Margin

Incomplete Returns Show Democrats Slightly Ahead.

LODGE PULLS THROUGH

Vote so Close That Friends of Democratic Candidate Talk of Asking for Recount; Frelinghuysen Loses; Beveridge in Danger in Indiana.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At noon, eastern time, today 25 states had completed their congressional election returns but neither Republicans or Democrats had progressed much further toward control of the House.

The vote at that hour stood Republicans, 185; Democrats, 187; Socialist, 1.

A majority to control is 218.

Iowa was the only state which has returned a solid Republican delegation.

NEW YORK, Nov 8.—Swept before a raging tide of Democratic victories in many states, the tremendous Republican majorities piled up in the Harding landslide of two years ago were knocked right and left in yesterday's elections.

The Republican majority in the United States Senate and in the House were sharply reduced but Republican managers declared they would not be upset out. Until belated returns from the West and Middle West began trickling in today the Democrats were leading on the polls of votes for the House. The 11th Michigan district, for the Republicans, tied the two parties at 178 each in the race toward the necessary 218 majority and it became plain that the deciding votes were yet to come from the West and Middle West.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Republican administration leader in the Senate, squeezed through in Massachusetts with a plurality of 1,945 votes in nearly a million cast and friends of Colonel Gaston, his Democratic opponent, were talking of seeking for a recount.

In Indiana, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Michigan and West Virginia Democratic senators replacing the Republicans had been conceded or were indicated on the face of the returns. The Republicans had an assured senatorial victory in Nebraska where R. B. Howell displaced Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Democratic leader, and prospects of another in Ohio, although today's returns showed Senator Pomerene cutting the lead of his Republican opponent, Representative Fess.

Not a single Republican gain in the House of Representatives had appeared to counter against the inroads the Democrats made in every state. Various causes, reaching from prohibition to tariff, were being brought forward as the cause.

The Republican forces failed to break into the Democratic ranks in the South and lost one congressional district which they have held for years, the Ninth Virginia. Speaker Gillett was re-elected. Uncle Joe Cannon passed on his seat from Illinois to a Republican.

Alice Robertson, Republican, of Oklahoma, the only woman in Congress, was beaten by a man, the Democrat she defeated two years ago, and the present House got an additional member, a woman, Republican, Mrs. Winifred Huck, of Illinois. She was elected to fill out her father's unexpired term and will serve only until next March.

With the defeat of Governor Miller of New York by Alfred Smith, the Republicans also lost 13 seats in the House of Representatives and a senator, William M. Calder, who was beaten by Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Democrat, house commissioner of New York City.

With Democratic victories in other states, some national figures close to the Republican administration and President Harding personally went down to defeat. Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, one of the President's intimates, who ran on a dry platform in New Jersey, was beaten by Governor Edwards who ran on an openly acknowledged wet platform.

Senator Johnson, Republican, of California, came back, as did Senator McLean of Connecticut, one of the leaders in the tariff fight. In Delaware Senator DuPont was having a close run.

In Indiana former Governor Ralston, Democrat, was running ahead of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge and thus threatened to remove from the Republican field one who had been

BOND ISSUES WIN AND LOSE

The proposal to float a bond issue of $29,000 at South Connellsville for a sewage system and street improvement was approved by the voters at the election Tuesday by a majority of 94. The vote was 226 for and 132 against, a total of 358 votes being polled.

A bond issue of $150,000 to finance the widening of Beeson avenue, Uniontown was approved, 2,318 to 1,026.

In Lower Tyrone township a proposal to issue bonds to the amount of $42,000 for a high school in the upper end of the township was defeated, 117 to 81. The lower end of the township was heavily against the proposal the vote there being 81 to 31. The school would have been located on the site of the Cochran school.

Republicans Lead Assembly, Westmoreland

GREENSBURG, Nov. 8.—In the First Legislative district in Westmoreland county the three Republican candidates are now leading, their Democratic opponents. Earlier returns placed Stader, a Democrat, in second place, with Whiteman, Republican, fighting with Bryson, Democrat, for third. Later returns received from 36 precincts, however, showed Whiteman moved in second place, and Stader with even less than the other Democrats on the ticket.

John B. Coldsmith of Mount Pleasant led the field by a big margin, polling 4,076 votes. Whiteman and Smith, Republicans had 2,120 and 3,032 respectively. The Democrats, Bryson, Warden and Stader had 2,905, 2,270 and 2,092 respectively.

Lead of 6,000 to 7,000 for Wyant in Westmoreland Co.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 8.—A majority of from between 6,000 and 7,000 is predicted for Congressman Adam M. Wyant, who is a candidate to succeed himself in the House of Representatives, from the 32nd. district.

With the very earliest returns, Congressman Wyant jumped into the lead, and maintained his advantage over Democratic candidate James M. Cramer, by a handsome margin.

PINCHOT IS FAR AHEAD

Guy W. Brown Has Tremendous Margin Over Democratic Opponent; Henderson Leads Legislative Field in Second; Bush and McDaniel Win.

Incomplete returns of the vote cast in Fayette county yesterday as compiled at Republican headquarters in Uniontown indicated that Pinchot carried the county for governor by between 2,000 and 3,000 over McSparran, the Democratic candidate.

Margins for all the Republican candidates were so wide with the exception of the First Legislative district that no attention was being paid to returns outside that district.

Complete returns for Assembly in the First district give Burchinal Republican, a lead of 43 over Tyler, Democrat. The figures are: Burchinal, 1,660; Tyler, 1,617.

Returns from 141 of 197 precincts for State Senate give Brown a lead of 1,635, the total showing Brown, 12,216; Cotton, 10,581.

Republican headquarters estimated Kendall's majority in the county for Congress at 1,500. Advices from Somerset county said Kendall carried the county by 3,000.

J. B. Henderson of Connellsville was leading the legislative ticket in the Second district with Bush in Bush's home second.

PINCHOT CARRIES STATE BY MORE THAN 250,000

Pepper and Reed Also Elected by Huge Majorities Over Democrats.

THE WHOLE TICKET WINS

Philadelphia, With Count Complete, Rolls Up Tremendous Lead for the Republican Candidates; Constitutional Amendment Is Also Carried.

By Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Returns from 5,879 districts out of 8,021 in Pennsylvania give Gifford Pinchot for governor a lead of 251,650 over John A. McSparran, his Democratic rival. Returns from unreported districts were expected to bring Pinchot's plurality to 275,000 if not more. The figures are:

Pinchot, 660,647; McSparran, 408,993.

In 5,358 districts Senator David A. Reed, Republican, has 585,673 and Samuel E. Shull, Democrat, 278,549 for senator. Reed's election is for the full term beginning next March.

Returns from 5,012 districts give Senator George W. Pepper, Republican, sitting member by appointment, 577,706 for the unexpired term of the late Senator Boies Penrose and Fred B. Kerr, Democrat, 288,735.

On the face of the unofficial returns from the 36 congressional districts in Pennsylvania, the Democrats will have seven representatives in the next House, against six.

Two state senators were also lost to the Republicans. They are the seats of York and of the Monroe district. Two districts, those in Northampton and Clearfield counties are in doubt.

At least nine seats in the next House of Representatives seem to have been lost by Republicans with one in doubt. Among those returned as won by Democrats where Republicans now sit are Adams County and Berks, Carbon, Union, Pike, Monroe, Northampton and one and perhaps two in Allegheny county. The Republicans gained one in Berks.

Among members re-elected to the House were Robert S. Speer, Yoder and Samuel A. Whittaker. [illegible] the two men who voted to impeach Governor Sproul. The [illegible] of the Committee on Judiciary in the House were re-elected. There [illegible] of the House who lost [illegible] in their own party nomination [illegible] were defeated.

The House of Representatives will contain women for the first time and probably [illegible] members.

Elections for Congress and state senators and representatives were held for the first time under the new apportionment. Congressmen were elected at large, [illegible] for the first time in more than a decade. There were three senators elected to fill vacancies caused by deaths or resignations, in addition to the 25 seats to be filled by expiration of term. The new House will contain 208 members, one more than in 1921.

Both Houses of the Legislature are heavily Republican.

Among legislators of activity who will not be in the next House because of defeat are Charles A. Schaffer, elected as a Democrat for four years but who lost his party nomination; C. E. Cook, Republican, York; C. B. Dewey, Bedford, and P. A. Dewey, Tioga; George H. Stewart, Jr., Cumberland; W. J. Patrick, Carbon; J. W. Mitchell, Mifflin.

The figures included the complete vote for Philadelphia.

Superior Court Judge Robert S. Gawthrop was elected for the 10 year term over Henry C. Niles, Democrat.

Returns indicate satisfaction with the home rule amendment which will authorize the Legislature to enact measures to permit municipalities to draft charters in line with local needs.

JOHN M'SPARRAN CARRIES CITY BY MARGIN 56 VOTES

Lack of Interest by Republicans, Hustle by Democrats Responsible.

CLOSE SHAVE FOR BROWN

Unexpected Opposition to Republican Candidate for State Senate, His Margin Over Cotton Being But Two; Henderson Polls the Highest Vote.

The entire Republican ticket, with the exception of the governorship, carried in Connellsville yesterday, returns from the seven city wards indicate. For governor, John A. McSparran, the Democratic candidate, led Gifford Pinchot, his opponent on the Republican ticket, by the narrow margin of 56 votes. The margins in some other races were close, but Republican candidates were favored in all.

That Democrats were hard at work is indicated in many of the returns. "The Bloody Third," true to tradition, swung into line for the Democratic ticket, giving majorities to both candidates for United States Senator, for governor, lieutenant governor and, in fact, the entire Democratic ticket. This was the only ward which went entirely Democratic.

Some other ward fights were close, but usually the issue was over the governor. Pinchot lost the First by one vote, was defeated by 50 in the Second and by 122 in the Third. He carried the Fourth by a margin of 19, was only four votes ahead in the Fifth but had a more comfortable margin on the West Side where he ran 31 ahead in the Sixth and 63 in the Seventh.

There was little voting on Socialist or Prohibition tickets, the main effort being confined to the two big parties. Nineteen was the highest vote accorded any Socialist candidate and in some wards only a quintet of this party cast a ballot.

The heaviest vote polled by any one candidate in the city went to Joseph B. Henderson, Republican candidate for representative in the General Assembly. He received 1,312. McSparran received the next highest total of ballots, getting 1,226 with David J. Davis, the Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor a close third, his total being 1,218.

W. H. Cotton, the Democratic nominee for representative in the General Assembly, led others of his party in the vote. He received 1,021, which, however, was less than the smallest vote received by any Republican candidate.

David A. Reed, Republican, had practically no opposition for the term of United States Senator ending on March 4, 1923, and he had very little more for the term beginning March 4, 1923. In only one ward, the Third, did he fall behind his opponent, Samuel E. Shull and then in that precinct he lacked only 10. He polled a majority of 400 more votes in the city than did Shull.

William J. Burke, running on the Progressive ticket, scored more votes for the United States Senator-ship than Jed Shull, the Democrat. Burke's total was 807 in the seven wards he carrying the Second and Third wards over both his Republican and Democratic opponents.

Fred B. Kerr was able to offer little resistance to the run of George Wharton Pepper for United States Senator. The Republican candidate ran almost 400 ahead of his Democratic opponent.

Samuel A. Kendall, candidate for re-election to congress on the Republican ticket, defeated Harrison N. Boyd in the city. Kendall received a total vote of 1,203 ballots in the seven wards to 1,157 for the Democratic candidate. He lost in the Second and Third wards.

Guy W. Brown, candidate for state senator on the Republican ticket, had a narrow escape from defeat in Connellsville. He won out by a margin of two votes, his total being 1,151 to 1,149 for H. A. Cotton. Cotton carried only the Second and Third wards but his plurality in these was sufficient to overcome what Brown received in the others. Brown ran only one vote ahead of Cotton in the Fifth ward, where he received 235 votes.

The constitutional amendment was defeated in Connellsville. There were 599 persons voted "yes" to 753 voting "no". The amendment carried in the First, Second and Sixth wards, but lost out in the others by such margins that its defeat was decisive.

The election was one of the quietest held in Connellsville in years. While the Democratic vote indicates members of that party were working with vigor it likewise shows that Republicans were lax. Interest generally was quite light and there were no crowds hanging about the polls last night awaiting for an announcement of the result.

WEDNESDAY EVE., NOV. 8, 1922.

CONGRESS AND IMMIGRATION.

One of the most important problems Congress will have to deal with after it convenes next month will be the enactment of an immigration law. That now in effect is only of an emergency character passed to meet the conditions prevailing during wartime and later extended for a limited period. This law must be replaced by another the scope and provisions of which will have a very vital influence in America.

Everywhere thoughout the land there is a strong sentiment favoring greater restrictions on immigration than have heretofore been applied and the demand is insistent that any changes made in the existing law be in that direction, not toward a lowering of the bars so as to allow hordes of undesirables to overflow the land. Foreign influences, steamship interests and large employers of labor are working in behalf of a more liberal law. Organized labor and the common people are a unit in opposition to the removal of any restrictions tending to make possible for a great rush of foreigners to invade this country.

"The shortage of labor in some industries," says the Baltimore Manufacturers Record, "is producing a demand for changing our immigration laws in order to bring in a large influx of foreign laborers.

"The Manufacurers Record does not believe that there should be any change for the present in our immigration laws, unless to make them more restrictive by requiring that all emigrants from Europe or other countries seeking to enter America should be thoroughly investigated physically and morally, and as to whether they are anarchists or Bolshevists or not, by responsible agents of the United States government before the emigrants are allowed to take ship for America.

"Our nation has been flooded for many years with millions of undesirable aliens who are in thought, in morals, in language and in their concept of government. Millions of these people have not been assimilated and are today a serious menace to the welfare of this country, and will so continue until they have been assimilated and Americanized. These people are responsible to a large extent for the breaking of our laws and for crimes of all kinds.

"On the other hand there are a great many of these immigrants who are good citizens whose coming has been of benefit to them and of benefit to the country. But we cannot afford to swamp the county, even for the sake of increasing the supply of labor with the hordes of people now anger to leave Russia and Southeastern Europe for America."

This is an issue Congress must meet squarely and with an enlightened sense of its obligation to safeguard the future interests of the nation. This is not a political question, but it is one calling for wise and farseeing statesmanship.

By close reading of the Democratic newspapers today one may detect a slight contrast between the confidently predicted and the actual results of the election.

It is all over and done. Now, down to business in order to avoid making a "mess" of your own affairs.

Pinchot could easily have spared 100,000 or more votes for McSparran and still had enough and to spare.

Does not appear to have been a Democratic year!

Again it has been shown that bluff, bluster and bunkombe don't win votes.

South Connellsville borough kept step in its progressive march by authorizing the bond issue for installation of a sewerage system, even if it did slip a little in its support of the Republican ticket.

Uniontowners voted a $150,000 bond issue to widen one of their narrow streets. Just following precedent as a wide open town in somethings, outsiders will be inclined to believe.

Boyd, not Kendall appears to be have been "absent and not voting," Tuesday.

There must be an aching void in the think-tanks of some Democratic editors today.

Patronize Our Own Orchards

Pittsburg Post

The appeal of Fred Rasmussen, state secretary of agriculture to the people of Pennsylvania to patronize their home orchards should find a hearty response. As this is Apple Week every one should give some though to the subject. The Pennsylvania apple crop this year is estimated at more than 12,000,000 bushels. Only about a third of this the secretary says will be treated as a commercial crop—picked and packed for storage. Continuing, "We have left 8,000,000 bushels of apples that are available at this time, but with no storage facilities for them. Unless these apples are taken into the homes and stored for future use, a large part of this crop will be an economic loss." It is emphasized that the flavor and texture of the Pennsylvania apples are not excelled by such fruit grown anywhere.

It is here that the need not only of improved marketing facilities but also of more 'pep' on the part of the average producer and the average consumer stands out. The wide awake farmer looks ahead for the marketing of all his crops and the wide-awake consumer looks ahead in the purchasing of supplies. Oh yes there may be conditions that hamper them—but just let it be recognized as something not debatable that the matter of marketing the apple crop of Pennsylvania should have been thoroughly thought-out long ago.

If city dwellers of Pennsylvania buy more apples brought in from other states than they do of the home-grown product the reflection is not so much upon them as upon lack of enterprise on the part of the applegrowers of this State. Nevertheless pride in their Commonwealth, as well as economic considerations, should cause city dwellers of Pennsylvania to do their part to stimulate the home industry.

Apple Week thus meets a marked need. It calls for greater appreciation both by producers and consumers in Pennsylvania of the fruit possibilities of the State. Do your part to save the crop and also serve yourself by obtaining some good apples at moderate prices.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

BREAKING BREAD.

Friends at the table breaking bread
Laughter and jest and kindly ways—
The humble lights of home ablaze
Love at the foot and at the head,
Where happily the board is spread
With all the gentle wife can raise,
With charm in every word that's said
Here is a joy too rich for praise.

Who dines with us makes glad our hearth,
And sweet with memories our walls,
And strength for every blow that falls
A friend for every hurt and ache
Is pledged within the bread we break.

TWEED FOR FALL AND WINTER

Tweed promises to be as popular for fall and winter as for early spring A wide collar of raccoon fur makes it decidedly comfortable for cold weather and saves carrying an extra fur

SHORT COATS ARE POPULAR

Abbreviated Garments Prominent in the Wrap Field—Fabric Apparel Holds Favor

Short coats bid fair to the popular short fur coats have made their appearance in the coat and wrap field recently and they really are making a bid for the bigger share of the season's popularity Designed to go with the newer models in cloth dresses these coats are really outstanding features of the out door

In other parts of the trade various lines of wraps and regular long coats with fur cuffs are gathering in a large proportion of business The popularity is sure to last and while the short model is not for wear in snowy weather it is manifest that it is decided hit with those who buy cheer going only a short while the longer garments in this vein are also in demand upon to be big in the major share of profit

Buyers are reported to have placed substantial orders for their needs with the close of the season indicating that it is not the only cause of the success of the short coat Despite the ever growing popularity of fur coats for winter wear the beginning of the mid and early winter season will still show a goodly lot of women clad in fabric coats and wraps

The effort to bring back suits of the heavier sort is partially being continued with the firms successfully the adoption of fitted suit lines but the trend to short coats seems to threaten even the suit success attained in this movement

THREE-PIECE SUIT IS LIKED

Outfit to Be Strong Favorite Among Winter Fashions—Dress and Coat of Same Fabric

In a perfect suit pointed to be the style of the winter's fashions but it is possibly a little early to say that varieties of costume show the tendency that some fabric is that is sure that the coat and skirt will be too heavy to serve through the fall months However when the time does come for its adoption it will be found to have in it of a place in the sun than it had even during last season when it could not be said to be greatly in the shade

Some of the dress ensembles are pretty plain all and those that are heavily woven recommend themselves most heartily for late season wear They are made entirely of masses of drapery They seem fitted enough in any respect They are built [illegible] to stop it that Many of them have [illegible] and upon the street for they are the product of a late season which has recommended themselves most heartily to the wear of women who [illegible] for a while longer and share things at this season of the year

Coker Independent Gridders Are Endangered Only Once in Game.

PLAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

The Connellsville Tornadoes with a number of regulars out of the line up showed now speed and pep yesterday and completely overwhelmed the Homestead Olympics 27 0 The Homesteaders showed little class or ability to gain any ground whatever until the final period, which was cut to five minutes Had it not been for this it is possible the locals would have been scored on.

The Cokers had had things practically their own way for three periods and seemed to be marching towards another score just before the final whistle blow The attempt was cut short however, when a forward pass was intercepted and the ball was carried to the middle of the field before the runner was stopped. The most interesting period of the game followed

Just preceding the interception of the forward pass the Tornadoes had lost 12 yards in two plays The Olympics immediately invoked an aerial game that succeeded A forward netted 17 yards and the team up and cut its toes with speed swept out another one This netted 11 more yards Jones and Smead then went into the game Connelly was offside and was penalized five yards Another forward netted five more for the visitors and then a plunge added two and one half more Cooney was ejected from the game Any he plunge was worth eight yards and the ball was on the Tornadoes four yard line Two plunges netted one yard and with three to go in the two downs for a touchdown the game ended

Bufano Pittsment and Solomon made some long runs and White scored twice on a delayed cross-buck Solomon played his first game with the team and did some nice work

"No matter how strange, unusual or even opposed to established custom or belief an idea may be, if its claims prove to be in harmony with all the essential facts concerning the subject to which the idea is related, it is true and valuable and should be accepted."

Chiropractic—What It Is

CHIROPRACTIC (Ki-Ro Prak Tik) is the Science of locating the cause of disease and the Art of removing it by adjusting the same, which relieves pressure on the nerves and allows Nature's life sparks or nerve energy to flow freely to and from the brain

The cause of disease as the Chiropractor finds it is a subluxation of one or more of the vertebrae of the spine Subluxations are partial displacements of vertebrae which decrease the size of the openings through which the spinal nerves pass and impinge or press them hence shut off a portion of the nerve supply to the organs or parts to which result will be disease depending functional activity Normal nerve supply to any organ or part of the human body generates normal function and maintains health

In adjusting the vertebrae to relieve the pressure the Chiropractor uses and needs nothing but his hands The whole object of his work is completed when this pressure is removed Nature does the rest

In some cases daily adjustments are necessary for a time In other cases however bi-weekly adjustments a week will bring splendid result The Chiropractor should be the judge as to the frequency of the adjustments

GRID EVILS BLAZED TO JAZZ BY BROOKE

Says Syncopation Has Knocked Football for a Goal.

To Be Winner With Ladies Young Man Must Have Plenty of Money Classy Automobile and Snake Wiggle Foot

They're blaming jazz for everything these days and so it is fitting that the Western college football rules be drawn into the vortex of luxurious automobiles cabarets dance jazzerie and kindred things

George H Brooke who used to be a great football player at Pennsylvania and afterward was a mighty fine coach at Swarthmore and the gridiron authorities who left the nasty cudgel in having said jazz was a cause for some of the ills of the ball game of the day

Jazz has knocked football for a goal says George especially among the sons of the rich It used to be that if a young man wanted to make a hit with a girl he tried to shine as a football player and if he was rich he could win her by having a car and taking her to the game with the rest of the crowd

Now it is just the reverse with every thing he says They point out that he will have warm spots in the hearts of the girls who see the winning touchdowns and hit the game winning homer

If the girl wants to make her Mr Right propose she will have to come over here He is a wonder on every point

"Shore he's headin' for that high place" said Tadd. "He's going slow now. There he's stopped behind some choyns. He's gettin up—no he's kneelin. Now what the h—l

"Laddy take a peek at the side of that lava ridge" sharply called Jim. "I guess mebbe somethin ain't co min off. See! There's Rojas an his outfit climbin. Don't make out no hosses. Dick use your glass an' tell us what's doin'. I'll watch Yaqui an' tell you what his move means."

Clearly and distinctly almost as if he could have touched them Gale had Rojas and his followers in sight. They were toiling up the rough lava on foot.

"They're almost up now" Gale was saying. "There! They built on top. I see Rojas. He looks wild. By ——! fellows, an Indian! It's a Papago Belding's old herder! The Indian points—this way—then down. He's showing Rojas the lay of the trail!"

"Boys Yaqui's in range of that bunch" said Jim swiftly. "He's raisin' his rifle low—Lord how slow he is! . . . He's covered someone. Which one I can't say. But I think he'll pick Rojas."

"The Yaqui can shoot. He'll pick Rojas," added Gale grimly.

"Rojas—yes—yes!" cried Thorne in passion of suspense.

"Not on your life!" Laddy's voice cut in with scorn. "Gentlemen, you can gamble Yaqui'll kill the Papago. That traitor Indian knows these sleep haunts. He's tellin Rojas—"

A sharp rifle-ball rang out.

"Laddy's right" called Gale. "The Papago's hit—he's arm falls. There, he tumbles."

More shots rang out. Yaqui was seen standing erect firing rapidly at the darting Mexicans. For all Gale could make out no second bullet took effect. Rojas and his men vanished behind the bulge of lava. The Yaqui deliberately backed away from his position. He made no effort to run or hide. Presently he turned and came straight toward the position of the rangers sheered off perhaps a hundred paces below it, and disappeared in a crevice. Plainly his intention was to draw pursuit away from the rifle shot.

Another wait set in then and judging by the more direct rays of the sun and a receding of the little shadows cast by the chaparral Gale was of the opinion that it was an hour wait. But it seemed hour. The rangers upper position was the best to take right and therefore was best shielded from possible fire from the higher ridges of the rim. Some three hundred yards distant Jim came next well hidden in a [illegible]. The positions of Thorne and Laddy were most exposed. They kept sharp lookout over the uneven rampart of their hiding place.

Suddenly the dead stillness was rent by a shot clear and ringing close at hand. It was from a rifle not a carbine. With startling quickness a cry followed—a cry that pierced Gale—it was so thin so high keyed so different from all other cries. It was the involuntary human shriek of death.

"Yaqui's called out another pard" [illegible] said Jim Lash hoarsely.

Gale's nerves began to crack. The reports were still high like sharp spats without any ring. Gale made out round spots dark against the background of red and in front of them leaped out small figures of men. Laddy's 405 began to bang with its beautiful sound of power. Thorne was firing somewhat wildly Gale thought. Then Jim Lash pushed his Winchester over the rim under a chaparral and between shots Gale could hear him shouting. Turn the lady turn—turn the lady turn!

Turn the lady turn. Gale got Jim's meaning. He was not sure that he hit any of the round dull objects he aimed at but a wild rage out of himself as if from liberated something lived and grovelled within his breast.

Then over the gestures of the rangers an [illegible] voice rolled. Those [illegible] struck the lava his red [illegible] [illegible] these [illegible] biting through the thorns made a sound as of a rattle. A shower of spilling of sill. His of [illegible] stung Gale's face and he drew [illegible] the flying thorns more than he did the stinging bullets.

"Hold on boys" called Laddy as he crouched down to reload his rifle. "Save your shells. The Greasers are spreadin on us some pain. Down below Yaqui others crowds up for their fetch in. When they get up there I'm d—d if it won't be hot for us. Pleasant time comin to us to hide here."

CONNELLSVILLE

didn't just happen

Neither did it become a great manufacturing center by accident.

For prosperity comes only through careful and conservative planning.

Connellsville with its great coke industries and its diverse manufacturing interests holds a high place in the industrial world.

Foresight—and a broad vision—have brought this about.

Behind Connellsville's present Bell service is an engineering staff whose function is planning for the future telephone needs of the city.

These engineers are just as much concerned about the present or prospective subscriber here, as they are with anyone else in the United States. No problem is so small that it does not merit their attention and no difficulty has yet been too large for them to overcome.

For they are members of the Bell organization.

And all Bell people have a very real interest in the community.

Their ideal is to merit the approbation of their fellow citizens whom they serve.

They aim to give the best of service and to give it with courtesy for they know that courtesy pays.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

THE PARISH PRIEST A picture with greater heart interest than The Old Homestead is being shown today at this theatre as the feature attraction. It is an elaborate version of Dan Dully's famous stage success. William Desmond appears in the role of Rev. John Whitier. Its characters are as well known to the average person as Little Eva, Simon Legree and Marks the lawyer in Uncle Tom's Cabin, and is come to the screens of the country is found to be hailed with delight by all classes. In the elaborate picturization as produced by Herman J. Cantield the character made famous by Dan Suly on the stage is played by Mr. Desmond who is most admirably suited to the part of the noble young priest so many have learned to love. He is surrounded a carefully selected cast chosen to perfectly fit the types which years of portraying have fixed indelibly in the minds of the masses.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Johnny Hines will be seen in Sure Fire Flint.

THE PARAMOUNT.

PRIMARED the leading picture today at this theatre presents Hoot Gibson in the title role in a story concerning a western hero who returns to his home in a western country and elected sheriff by his fellow citizens. His candidacy is opposed by a crooked politician who wishes to use the young man to further his ends to influence. But Dick Garland is taken by Chester, shows a much greater regard for the rights of the voters who elected him than for the dishonest schemes of the men who are attempting to use him for their own personal gain. The girl in the story, daughter of the man Garland defeated at the polls first open the new sheriff's eyes to the evil conditions. Garland goes after a desperate murderer. A tack made lent him by the girl is the only mount Garland can master for the chase but he brings back his man by a clever ruse not revealed until the last. The story is ably supported by Miss Miller and Alfred Hollingsworth, Ted Kohler, Otto Hoffman, Dick La Reno and R. Hugh Sutherland. The picture was directed by Harry Pollard.

Friday and Saturday Jack Hoxie will be seen in The Crow's Nest.

THE ORPHEUM.

SOCIAL PEOPLE showing today at this theatre is one of those period productions which cause action wherever it rest. It owes its origin to one of the season's most notable stage successes Rachel Crothers play of the same name which delighted New York and other eastern audiences for months. Seldom since the Affairs of Anatol have so many conspicuous names appeared in the cast of a single picture. Wallace Reid portrays the hero Billy Wade with Bebe Daniels as the delightful Teddy. Conrad Nagel prominent in the casts of Fools Paradise, Saturday Night, What Every Woman Knows, Midsummer Madness and other plays is cast in the role of Scotty. John Davey who will be remembered for his striking characterization in Saturday Night plays Hale the friends enemy of Teddy.

Nor is the quality of the cast confined to the principals. Clifton Webb, Dowell, Edward Martindel, Esther Ethel Wale, William Boyd and Beverly Bayne form a group of supporting players who give uniformly interesting and genuine characterizations of the lesser roles.

Thursday Miss Mae Murray will be seen in A Virginia Courtship.
